Moon at midnight, and I cannot sleep; that's the best moment for being creative and sketch for new designs:) When I had sketched this shawl I could start knitting the next morning, as I had the perfect yarn available. And when I had started the narrow tip I could hardly put my knitting away; it was such a fun and interesting knit! Design

At full Moon, the moon rises at sunset and sets at sunrise. Excuse the misspelling in the figure; someday we will fix it!: At 3rd quarter, the moon rises at midnight and sets at noon. Then we see only a crescent. At new, the moon rises at sunrise and sets at sunset, and we don't see any of the illuminated side!

It can be, but only in special cases. As other answers have pointed out, a crescent moon must be close to the sun in the sky, and at midnight the sun is (usually) so far below the horizon that the moon would also be. However, during summer near the north or south pole, the sun can be below the horizon at midnight, yet the moon above.
